MQ Health, in partnership with orthopaedic surgeons and Medibank, is planning to establish an orthopaedic surgical centre at Macquarie University Hospital. The dedicated floor will house four advanced orthopaedic operating theatres and 29 beds, providing support for a short-stay surgical model.

For this project, Alphamax Panels were used with a flat face plate and a large corner radius on the vertical MSP. Single tier MSPs had a flat face plate with square corners. The panels were powder-coated to match the required colours of the interior design.
